Certification Regarding Eligibility
To Apply for Worker Adjustment Assistance and
Alternative Trade Adjustment Assistance

In accordance with Section 223 of the Trade Act of 1974, as amended (19 USC 2273), the Department of Labor herein presents the results of an investigation regarding certification of eligibility to apply for worker adjustment assistance.

In order to make an affirmative determination and issue a certification of eligibility to apply for Trade Adjustment Assistance, the group eligibility requirements in either paragraph (a)(2)(A) or (a)(2)(B) of Section 222 of the Trade Act must be met. It is determined in this case that the requirements of (a)(2)(B) of Section 222 have been met.

The investigation was initiated on August 5, 2004 in response to a petition filed by a state workforce agent on behalf of workers at Morse Automotive Corp., Arkadelphia, Arkansas. The workers at the subject facility produce brake shoes.

The preponderance in the declines in employment at the subject facility is related to a shift in facility production of brake shoes to a country (Mexico) that is a party to a free trade agreement with the United States.

In accordance with Section 246 the Trade Act of 1974 (26 USC 2813), as amended, the Department of Labor herein presents the results of its investigation regarding certification of eligibility to apply for alternative trade adjustment assistance (ATAA) for older workers.

In order for the Department to issue a certification of eligibility to apply for ATAA, the group eligibility requirements of Section 246 of the Trade Act must be met. The Department has determined in this case that the requirements of Section 246 have been met.

A significant number of workers at the firm are age 50 or over and possess skills that are not easily transferable. Competitive conditions within the industry are adverse.

Conclusion

After careful review of the facts obtained in the investigation, I conclude that there was a shift in production from the workers' firm or subdivision to Mexico of articles that are like or directly competitive with those produced by the subject firm or subdivision. In accordance with the provisions of the Act, I make the following certification:

"All workers of Morse Automotive Corp., Arkadelphia, Arkansas who became totally or partially separated from employment on or after August 5, 2003 through two years from the date of certification are eligible to apply for adjustment assistance under Section 223 of the Trade Act of 1974, and are also eligible to apply for alternative trade adjustment assistance under Section 246 of the Trade Act of 1974."

Signed in Washington, D.C. this 16th day of August, 2004.

A SUBSIDIARY OF HAWORTH, INC
INCLUDING ON-SITE LEASED WORKERS FROM STAFFMARK
JONESBORO, ARKANSAS

Certification Regarding Eligibility
To Apply for Worker Adjustment Assistance and
Alternative Trade Adjustment Assistance

In accordance with Section 223 of the Trade Act of 1974, (19 USC 2273), the Department of Labor herein presents the results of an investigation regarding certification of eligibility to apply for worker adjustment assistance.

In order to make an affirmative determination and issue a certification of eligibility to apply for Trade Adjustment Assistance, the group eligibility requirements in either paragraph (a)(2)(A) or (a)(2)(B) of Section 222 of the Trade Act must be met. It is determined in this case that the requirements of (a)(2)(A) of Section 222 have been met.

The investigation was initiated on July 20, 2004 in response to a petition filed by a state agency representative on behalf of workers of Haworth Jonesboro System Products, a subsidiary of Haworth, Inc., Jonesboro, Arkansas. The workers at the subject firm produce office systems furniture and components.

The subject firm leases its workers from StaffMark.

The investigation revealed that sales, production and employment at the subject firm decreased during January through June of 2004 when compared to the same period of 2003.

The investigation further revealed that the subject firm did not import office systems furniture, nor did it shift production of systems furniture from the Jonesboro, Arkansas plant to another country.

The Department of Labor surveyed the subject facility's major declining customers regarding their purchase of office systems furniture and components. This survey revealed increases in imports of office systems furniture during the period under investigation.

In accordance with Section 246 of the Trade Act of 1974 (26 USC 2813), as amended, the Department of Labor herein presents the results of its investigation regarding certification of eligibility to apply for alternative trade adjustment assistance (ATAA) for older workers.

In order for the Department to issue a certification of eligibility to apply for ATAA, the group eligibility requirements of Section 246 of the Trade Act must be met.

The Department has determined in this case that the requirements of Section 246 have been met.

A significant number of workers at the firm are age 50 or over and possess skills that are not easily transferable. Competitive conditions within the industry are adverse.

Conclusion

After careful review of the facts obtained in the investigation, I determine that increases of imports of articles like or directly competitive with system furniture produced at Haworth Jonesboro System Products, a subsidiary of Haworth Inc., Jonesboro, Arkansas contributed importantly to the total or partial separation of workers and to the decline in sales or production and at that firm or subdivision. In accordance with the provisions of the Act, I make the following certification:

"All workers of Haworth Jonesboro System Products, a subsidiary of Haworth, Inc. including on-site leased workers from StaffMark, Jonesboro, Arkansas who became totally or partially separated from employment on or after July 16, 2003, through two years from the date of certification, are eligible to apply for adjustment assistance under Section 223 of the Trade Act of 1974 and are also eligible to apply for alternative trade adjustment assistance under Section 246 of the Trade Act of 1974."
