Business Case for Hiring People with Abilities ▲ ●

Randy Lewis, Founder and President of the Nogwog Fund, Retired Senior Vice President of Walgreens
Introduction by Commissioner Alan McClain, Arkansas Department of Career Education, Arkansas Rehabilitation Services

It was 2002 when Randy Lewis, Senior Vice President of Supply Chain and Logistics, issued a challenge to Walgreens and its stakeholders to address the serious unemployment of people with significant disabilities while meeting the needs of their workforce and distribution supply chain. Since the company was investing in new technology to make distribution more efficient, Mr. Lewis proposed, why not create opportunities for people with disabilities? As Mr. Lewis would say later at a warehouse industry conference, Walgreens was inspired to challenge the conventional wisdom.

8:35 a.m. Sector Strategies Implementation and Best Practices ▲ ●

The workforce system envisioned by the Workforce Innovation and Opportunity Act (WIOA) is quality-focused, employer-driven, customer-centered, and tailored to meet the needs of regional economies. In collaboration with partners, the system aligns workforce development, education, and economic development programs and resources with regional economic development strategies. The system's goal is to meet the needs of local and regional employers and provide comprehensive, accessible and high-quality career opportunities for job seekers and workers. Achieving this vision for the workforce system depends upon the development and implementation of industry sector strategies. This panel presentation will provide information on the implementation of sector strategies in Arkansas as well as highlight best practices from other states.

Breakout Session Descriptions

Session 1

Thursday, March 2, 2017 – 1:30 p.m. - 3:00 p.m.

Expanding Registered Apprenticeship (Meeting Rm 1) ▲ ● ■

This workshop will discuss the benefits of Registered Apprenticeship to business and workers from key perspectives. Employers value Apprenticeship for the value it brings in terms of increased skill levels and reduced turnover. Burton Weiss of JB Hunt will discuss why his company has made the strategic decision to invest in Apprenticeship. Because Community Colleges are critical to training the future workforce, the University of Arkansas Community College at Morrilton will discuss the process and benefits of incorporating apprenticeship programs into their workforce training programs. Lee Price will discuss the process for becoming a Registered Apprenticeship provider and the latest federal apprenticeship policies. Peg Walton will share best practices and successes from other states. Lisa Ferrell with ADWS will discuss strategic initiatives and potential funding sources for apprenticeship.

Presenters:

- Lisa Ferrell, Discretionary Grants Coordinator, Arkansas Department of Workforce Services
- Burton Weis, Senior Director Driver Personnel, J.B. Hunt Transport Inc.
- Jessica Rohlman, Concurrent Coordinator, University of Arkansas Community College at Morrilton, Industrial Maintenance Apprenticeship Sponsor
- Lester 'Lee' Price, Arkansas State Director, U.S. Department of Labor Office of Apprenticeship and Training
- Peg Walton, Department of Labor Apprenticeship Coach/Consultant, Maher and Maher

Employer and Business Engagement (Meeting Rm 2) ▲ ●

In order to improve competitive integrative employment outcomes for job seekers and to meet the needs of business, dual engagement is required. This session will focus on business employers' human capital concerns, skill needs, and requirements. Attendees will learn about work experience opportunities and how they can be used to employ more job seekers with disabilities.

Facilitator:

- Rodney Chandler, District Business Relations Manager, Arkansas Department of Career Education, Division of Rehabilitation Services

Presenters:

- Rashad Delph, Talent Acquisition Resources, Tyson Foods
- David Maples, Owner of Maples Insurance, State Rehabilitation Counsel Board Member
- Randy Lewis, Founder and President of the Nogwog Fund, pioneer of disability initiatives and retired Walgreens Vice President of Logistics and Supply Chain

The Importance of Prisoner Re-Entry into the Workforce (Meeting Rm 3) ▲ ●

The United States has the highest rate of incarceration in the world. Ninety-five percent of prisoners eventually will be released to the community, and over 700,000 prisoners are released annually. There are numerous challenges to engage effectively criminal justice populations in appropriate support services in the community, and employment is one of the most significant challenges facing the re-entry population. Presenters will discuss the role of employment in the successful community re-entry of individuals involved in the criminal justice system. Attendees will hear about lessons learned from successful re-entry models.

Presenters:

- Nickolas Zaller, PhD, Associate Professor, University of Arkansas for Medical Sciences, College of Public Health
- Leta Anthony, Chairman, Central Arkansas Re-Entry Coalition

Performance Accountability (Ballroom 3) ■

The U.S. Departments of Labor and Education jointly issued Training and Employment Guidance Letter (TEGL) 10-16 on December 19, 2016 to provide guidance on performance accountability under WIOA. Through this guidance, the Departments elaborate on the performance accountability requirements in section 116 of WIOA, part 677 of the Joint WIOA Final Rule and the performance reporting requirements in the WIOA Joint Performance Accountability Information and Reporting System. This session will review the information provided in TEGL 10-16, including USDOL's responses to States' questions related to the TEGL since its release.

Presenter:

- Elroy Willoughby, Area Operations Chief, Arkansas Department of Workforce Services

Session 2

Thursday, March 2, 2017 – 3:15 p.m. – 4:30 p.m.

Labor Market Information Resources for Effective Decision Making (Meeting Rm 1) ●

This session will highlight labor market information resources that are available in Arkansas to aid in making informed decisions regarding workforce development investments. An example of the use of these resources by the Central Arkansas Planning and Development District will be highlighted, including how the necessary data was compiled into a report entitled "Leverage," from which, the Board developed the Area's focus on a "demand-side" approach to the implementation of the WIOA program.

Presenters:

- Belinda Hodges, Research Project Analyst, Labor Market Information Division, Arkansas Department of Workforce Services
- Ron White, LMI Manager, Labor Market Information Division, Arkansas Department of Workforce Services
- Devin Howland, WIOA Program Administrative Director, Central Arkansas Planning & Development District

Career Services that Empower (Meeting Rm 2) ▲

Career Services should motivate, support and empower customers, including individuals with disabilities, following several main objectives. Upon completion of programs, customers should be able to make informed decisions based on local and regional economic demand and effectively attain their personal employment and education goals. All WIOA core partners have a responsibility to provide career services, with the assistance of other required partners. This session will provide information on coordinating efforts with other programs to provide career services that will support and empower your customers.

Presenter:

- Dr. Claudia Griffin, Int. Division Chief, Arkansas Department of Workforce Services

Arkansas Career Development Facilitators (Meeting Rm 3) ■

In this session, attendees will learn about facilitating career development and the resources that are available for Career Development Facilitators. Information regarding training opportunities leading to a global certification will be discussed, including elements of training, and how it may benefit the practitioner. Attend this session to learn how to join the network of over 400 CDFs in Arkansas, among all agencies and institutions, with training conveniently available right here in Arkansas.

Presenter:

- Ray Henson, Executive Director, Arkansas Career Development Association and a consultant for the Arkansas Public School Resource Center

One-Stop Operations and Infrastructure Funding of the One-Stop System (Ballroom 3) ■

In January 2017, the U.S. Departments of Labor and Education jointly issued guidance regarding one-stop operations and infrastructure funding of the one-stop delivery system (TEGL 16-16, and TEGL 17-16). This information still is new, and the federal agencies are working to provide technical assistance to states on implementation. This session will provide a review of the content of the guidance and an opportunity for attendee discussion. Comments and questions from attendees regarding applicability to Arkansas operations will be forwarded to the U.S. Department of Labor for response.

Presenters:

- Cindy Varner, Assistant Director for Employment Assistance, Arkansas Department of Workforce Services, and Chair of the WIOA Roundtable Policy Committee
- Bryan Hicks, Assistant Director for Financial Management and Administrative Services, Arkansas Department of Workforce Services, and Chair of the WIOA Roundtable Finance Committee
